

DHYOM

Bring the Sacred Home

The Sacred Corner Guide

Build the most intentional space in your home.

*You commented CORNER on our Instagram.
This is everything you need — step by step.*

THE DHYOM GUIDE · DHYOM.IN

I

WHY IT MATTERS

The Home That Holds Intention.

EVERY TRADITIONAL INDIAN HOME HAD A SACRED CORNER.

It was not optional — it was where the day began, where the evening settled, where the home breathed. Somewhere along the way, in the rush of modern life, we stopped building them.

A sacred corner does not need to be large. It does not need to be expensive. It needs to be intentional. What follows is everything you need to build yours.

"A home with a sacred corner is a home that remembers what matters."

II

STEP ONE

Choose the Right Location.

THE PLACEMENT MATTERS MORE THAN MOST PEOPLE REALISE.

— North-East — Ishan

The most sacred direction. First choice always. Shiva, Vishnu, Lakshmi.

— East

Surya energy — sunrise facing. Excellent for morning ritual practice.

— North

Kubera and prosperity energy. Ideal for Lakshmi worship.

— Avoid South

Yama's direction. Never place your primary sacred corner here.

Practical note: In a modern apartment, choose the cleanest, most elevated, most private corner available. Intention matters more than precise direction.

THE RULE	ALTERNATIVE	NEVER
North-East First	East Facing	South Direction

III

STEP TWO

The Essential Objects.

YOU DO NOT NEED MANY OBJECTS. YOU NEED THE RIGHT ONES.

The Idol or Image

The primary presence. The deity you pray to. One is enough.

The Diya

The sacred flame. Brass diya with ghee or oil. Light it first — always.

The Incense

Dhyom Sandalwood Dhoop for morning. Lavender for evening. Never synthetic.

The Candle

Dhyom Nakshatra or Mandala — placed beside, not in front of, the idol.

Fresh Flowers

Marigold for Ganesha. White for Shiva. Red for Lakshmi. Changed often.

The Cloth

Clean white or red cotton beneath the objects. Never synthetic fabric.

IV

STEP THREE

The Fragrance

Map.

THE RIGHT FRAGRANCE TRANSFORMS THE ATMOSPHERE.

4–6 am · Brahma Muhurta

→ Sandalwood

Shiva's hour. The most ancient offering. Grounds the mind.

6–9 am · Morning Puja

→ Sandalwood

The primary morning offering. Prescribed for Shiva worship.

12–3 pm · Afternoon

→ Citrus

Surya's hour. The fragrance of awakening and clarity.

5–7 pm · Sandhya / Dusk

→ Lavender

Saraswati's hour. Peace and creative clarity.

7–9 pm · Evening Puja

→ Sandalwood or Lavender

Evening worship — both are correct.

9–11 pm · Before Sleep

→ Vanilla

Lakshmi's hour. Warmth and rest.

STEP FOUR

The Daily Ritual.

A SACRED CORNER WITHOUT A DAILY RITUAL IS JUST DECORATION.

Morning — on waking

- Light the diya first. Before anything else.
- Light sandalwood dhoop or incense.
- Offer flowers or marigold petals.
- Sit quietly for 2 minutes. No phone. No plans. Just presence.
- Chant 'Om Namah Shivaya' 3 to 11 times.

Evening — at Sandhya / dusk

- Light the diya again. This is the second most important moment.
- Light lavender dhoop or incense — Saraswati's hour.
- This signals to your home: the work is done, the rest begins.

NOW THAT YOU KNOW

Build your sacred corner.

The homes that feel most peaceful are the ones that hold intention.

Yours is one ritual away.

SHOP DHYOM · DHYOM.IN